Service Code 07 Update Problem

NEW INFORMATION: EDS has corrected this problem; all Service Code Groups are now current. EDS has reprocessed all claims denied as a result of this error and the one identified in This Computes 126. Providers have been notified that the claims have been reprocessed. It is no longer necessary to include a SCG 01 along with the SCG 07, although doing so does not cause any problems or permit duplicate billings by the provider.

This Computes number 126 advised you of a problem with the updates to service codes 02, 03 and 07. EDS has corrected that update error. HOWEVER, we have identified another update omission that impacts Service Code Group 07 only.

Apparently some codes in the 2004 HCPCS update were not added to the SCG 07. EDS is working to correct this error and will include the corrections with the 2005 HCPCS update. Until that time, SARs issued for SCG 07 should also include SCG 01. This will prevent claim payment problems associated with this update error.
